

Abstract of the Disclosure

Administration of clavulanic acid and related compounds at low 5 dosages provides significant neurotropic effects in warm-blooded vertebrates evidenced inter alia by anxiolytic and anti-aggressive behavior and enhanced cognition believed to be mediated by inhibition of neurogenic enzyme activity.
Therapeutic methods for using such compounds and their pharmaceutical formulations are described.